

Fiona Cowan

My name is Fiona Cowan. I am married to Daniel and we have a son Alex who has just started at Willowbank School in February this year. I work in Manukau as a lawyer specialising in Family Law. I am very interested in the running of the school and wish to contribute, as a parent, to the same. I am a community minded person with a passion for our community, as I have been raised and educated here. I believe that it is helpful to have people from all different backgrounds and disciplines participating and ensuring Willowbank School continues to be a school that we are proud of and that our children are getting the best start to their education.
